Parish Rebate from this year's Annual Catholic Appeal

When I am out and about shopping in Federal Way, where I live, I am surprised by the number of boarded up windows and wall sections of businesses where an out-of-control car ran through. At my bank, a car smashed through a wall and entered the bank lobby, barely missing an employee's desk. A recent safety inspection of our parish campus highlighted that same risk to our buildings. Our parking lot also has seen an increased number of incidents of people speeding around, doing donuts.

Back in February, our parish hosted a weeklong Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design (CPTED) workshop for the city of Covington. Our parish received a set of design principles to reduce the incidence of crime and malicious behavior by manipulating the environment in a way that creates a safer space.

Based on our safety inspection and our CPTED report, we are using this year's rebate from the Annual Catholic Appeal to add planter boxes to protect our building from runaway cars and parking curbs/stops and speed humps to discourage reckless driving in our parking lot. Improved lighting to the parking lot and the exterior of the buildings would also be added.

Your support of the Annual Catholic Appeal funds many important ministries in the Church throughout western Washington. What we raise over our parish goal is returned to the parish for our own needs. This year that rebate will improve the safety of our parking lot while increasing a little more green around the blacktop. Thank you for your support.

Synod

The Synod team is working on a summary document for the archdiocese, which is now in the final edit phase. There will be something more concrete to report out next week.

In the meantime, please enjoy the following article from Catholic News Agency, October 9, 2021 on Synod.

Pope Francis: Path to 2023 Synod on Synodality Faces Three Risks (Vatican City, October 9, 2021)

Pope Francis urged Catholics to be conscious of three "risks" as they embark on the path to the 2023 synod on synodality.

Speaking at an event marking the opening of the two-year process leading to the synod on Oct. 9, the pope said that proceedings could be impeded by "formalism," "intellectualism," and "the temptation of complacency."

Addressing the first risk, he said, "If we want to speak of a synodal Church, we cannot remain satisfied with appearances alone; we need content, means, and structures that can facilitate dialogue and interaction within the People of God, especially between priests and laity."

"Why do I emphasize this? Because sometimes there is some elitism in the presbyteral order that makes it detached from the laity; and the priest ultimately becomes the 'master of the house' and not the shepherd of a whole Church that is moving forward."

"This requires changing certain overly vertical, distorted, and partial visions of the Church, the priestly ministry, the role of the laity, ecclesial responsibilities, roles of governance, and so forth."

Turning to the second risk, he cautioned that the synod "could turn into a kind of study group," losing itself in abstraction.

He said that the process would then consist of "the usual people saying the usual things, without great depth or spiritual insight, and ending up along familiar and unfruitful ideological and partisan divides, far removed from the reality of the holy People of God and the concrete life of communities around the world."

The final risk, he said, was to adopt an attitude that "We have always done it this way."

"Those who think this way, perhaps without even realizing it, make the mistake of not taking seriously the times in which we are living," he commented.

"The danger, in the end, is to apply old solutions to new problems. A patch of rough cloth that ends up creating a worse tear."

"It is important that the synodal process be exactly this: a process of becoming, a process that involves the local Churches in different phases and from the bottom up, in an exciting and engaging effort that can forge a style of communion and participation directed to mission."

The pope was speaking at a live-streamed "moment of reflection" for the opening of the synodal path at the Vatican's New Synod Hall.

Grief Support Program

Offered by St. John the Baptist Grief Ministry

May 25 to June 22, 2022
7:00 - 9:00 pm every Wednesday,
online via Zoom

Walking Through Grief is a 9-part educational and inspirational grief program offering support and hope to those experiencing the loss of a loved one (e.g. spouse, parent, friend, or child) in their lives and will be offered at no charge.

During each weekly session, those attending will gain insight and education about their loss as they watch professionally produced DVD's featuring professionals in the field. These professionals are joined by a group of contributors, who share their own grief journey and provide inspiration in how they have dealt with their own loss. Each week will have a specific topic and include a group discussion as well as some assignments to work on between meetings. A workbook is provided along with some tools, handouts, and articles to help in your grief journey.

If you are grieving, or someone you know is grieving and you feel that this may have some benefit for you, please contact Frank Hammock (Lead Facilitator), via the Parish Office, 253-630-0701 or <https://sjtbcc.org/contact-us/> to learn more about Walking Through Grief.

Check your car's tire pressure

Properly inflated tires improve the car's gas mileage. This will not only decrease your carbon emission but also save you money.

The St. John the Baptist Creation Care Team will promote just and equitable sustainability of natural resources through personal and communal awareness, attitude, and action. We are entrusted as stewards of God's creation, which is our common home. As people of faith, we affirm that all of God's creation is sacred.

The tradition of Flores de Mayo

May, rain pours after a long dry spell and flowers bloom overnight. Fragrant flowers fill the air. Predominantly Catholic Filipinos celebrate the beneficial rain by giving praise to the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Colorful flowers are used to decorate churches during festivities, known as the "Flores De Mayo" (Flowers of May).

Many celebrate by praying the rosary, offering flowers to the Blessed Virgin Mary, and sharing homemade delicacies. Sunday best is worn while singing and dancing to welcome the rain that will water the new crops.

These festivities culminate in an elaborate procession to the Church where Mass is celebrated. The procession is called "Santacruzán" (Festival of the Holy Cross), a commemoration of the finding of the Holy Cross in Jerusalem by Saint Helena, mother of Constantine the Great. Behind her is a float carrying the image of the Blessed Virgin Mary, followed by a band.

Celebration: Sunday, May 15

- Rosary (10:30 am)
- Litany and Act of Consecration to the Blessed Virgin Mary
- Procession from Sanctuary
- Assembly
- Procession to Sanctuary (11:30am)
